Mrs. Elpa

About Me

I love being a teacher. Passionate and dedicated with over 20 years of experience creating stimulating and nurturing learning environments for young children. My educational practice focuses on promoting the comprehensive development of each child. Enhancing both their cognitive and social skills through recreational and educational needs. I specialize in using innovative and creative teaching methods such as game-based learning to capture children's attention and make learning progress fun and effective.

Education

I studied Child Care Development at Santa Fe College and obtained my professional credentials at the Child Care Educational Institute.
